

The World's Most Popular Open Source Database is Now Available as Your Global Standard.

MySQL is broadly recognized as the world's most popular open source database, deployed by some of the planet's most recognizable web sites including Facebook, Google, Yahoo!, and YouTube, to name a few.

Having completed the acquisition of MySQL, Sun Microsystems is now pleased to present a more comprehensive lineup of traditional licensing and global support services to enterprises seeking the scale, innovation and value its extraordinary user community has come to expect. On any operating system, and any hardware platform. For more information, go to sun.com/globalstandard or contact your local Sun sales representative.

And if you're thinking "Wow, the world just changed," you're right. It did.

